

Do not let ownership of tv and radio fall into the hands of a few corporations. Monopolistic control by the few does not represent a democracy. What's important is diversity, localism, and a variety of opinions represented not just by those of a small handful. The media should represent the public interest NOT the six largest media conglomerations in the U.S.